SCHOOLMA'MAM CONDEMNED BY LITTLE HANDS

Pupils' Silent but Unanimous Testimonial Deprives Miss Olive Bennett of Her Charge at Ascalon, St. Louis County.

NEIGHBOR COMPLAINED OF WHIPPED CHILDREN'S CRIES

"All Who Dislike Teacher Raise Their Hands," Said Superintendent, and Every Palm Went Up
—Her Resignation Followed.

This dissension which has for several weeks disturbed public-school life in St. Louis County from center to circumference, that is, from Clayton to Bridgeton, with the Mount Pleasant School at Ascalon as the core of the trouble, has ended, and Miss Olive Bennett is today without a school. She was forced to resign Wednesday afternoon, after a trial at which J. W. Andrus, the county superintendent of schools, was judge and jury.

Miss Bennett was her own sole witness and counsel, and the most damaging testimony given against her was the silent up-lifting of 20 little hands.

Superintendent Andrus made the charge of continually whipping boy scholars secondary to that of insubordination to the principal of the school, Miss Amanda Terry, and to the kindred charge, mutiny, against the board of school directors.

The charge of brutally beating the boys was practically dismissed when Miss Bennett laid before the superintendent the weapon with which she had punished the boys by slapping them on the palms of the hands with it. The charges stated that she had beaten them with a stick. The stick proved to be a thin ruler of white wood, 12 inches long, weighing less than three ounces.

The charges on which the testimony was taken were as follows:

Whipping boys with unnecessary severity.

Ordering a member of the school board from the primary department.

Dismissal school without the permission of the school board.

Refusing to make reports to the principal.

Forbidding the principal to enter the primary department to supervise the work.

Mismanagement of her department so as to reduce the enrollment from 41 to 19 or 20 pupils.

The charges were made by Frank A. Bruno and Henry Baumgarten, secretary of the Ascalon school board.

Chief Charges

on Discipline.

There were some thirty witnesses in all against Miss Bennett, most of them her pupils who took an enthusiastic interest in the trial and proved to be damaging witnesses.

Frank A. Bruno testified that when he had been called as a school director to go to the teacher and protest against her whipping the scholars he had been met with the teacher's assurance that she was the teacher and would carry out her discipline as she deemed proper. When he went again to protest, Miss Bennett ordered him from the room and slammed the door in his face. He said he had been called to examine the bumps on the head of Walter Michael by the boy's mother. He found several bumps and a well across the nose, which he believed had been administered by the teacher with a ruler.

A letter from Miss Bennett applying for the position of teacher was read, in which she acknowledged Miss Terry as principal. Miss Terry was called to the stand and testified that Miss Bennett had refused to follow her suggestions as to reports and in the conduct of her department, and that, after meeting several rebuffs, she had held no further communication with the teacher of the primary department.

Cries Kept Pupils

From Their Books.

As to the corporal punishment administered, Mrs. Terry said that Miss Bennett had been so strict with children in the hallways between the two school rooms that their cries greatly disturbed her and the children in her room. She had not interfered with her, as she had seen many children a day were whipped in the hall.

George Miller, proprietor of a store near the school, said that he had been disturbed by the cries of the children being punished until one day he could stand it no longer and rushed over to the school to protest.

Superintendent Andrus then sought the testimony of the children as to the punishment administered and the cause of it. Every boy said he had been beat without cause. The favorite reason given for the beatings they were alleged to have received was that they were "bad."

When the superintendent asked why they were punished, they reluctantly told the story that they had been locked out of the school room by the teacher who had kept in all recesses. As each boy was asked if he had locked the door each denied it with an air of apparent sincerity that no one could question their veracity.

Little Girl in Tears Tells Tale.

"Then if none of you locked the door, who did lock it?" the superintendent asked with such severity that every boy trembled.

There was an awful pause, during which the boys looked at one another and wriggled in their seats, their heads and tied their legs in knots.

Suddenly a pretty little girl in a red dress and wearing a sordid "Tam O'Shafer" sitting on a chair in the middle of the front seats, burst into a agony of tears. The culprit stood revealed. It was little Buck, having gone to Shaw's house with intention of shooting him. Buck killed a man several years ago and seriously wounded another.

STATES SPENT MORE THAN ESTIMATES

Chief of Department of Domestic Exploitation Submits Report to Fair Management.

Charles M. Reeves, chief of the department of domestic exploitation, who will retire from the exposition Dec. 1, after three years' service, submitted his final report to President Francis Thanksgiving morning.

The report states that the total amount appropriated by 44 states, three territories and the insular possessions of the United States for the exposition purposes was $2,381,777. Of this amount, the report says, $7,062.790, or 30 cents, the balance being represented by furniture and exhibits.

At the Chicago exposition the states, territories and possessions of the United States appropriated only $5,395,531.

JAPANESE FIRE PORT ARTHUR COAL

Shells Ignite Stock in the Besieged City—More British Ships Sail.

CHEFOO, Nov. 24—6 p.m.—A huge pile of coal near the railway station at Port Arthur was ignited by Japanese shells on Nov. 20, and, according to Chinese officials of the Daily Mail telegraphs, there were then left the besieged town on Nov. 24. A Japanese torpedo boat destroyer overhauled this junk, but allowed it to proceed. Another junk with six Higgins on board was taken ashore, where the junk was burned. The passengers were sent to Dainy.

A mass meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will be held Friday evening in Louis. At 8 o'clock, at Schuyler Memorial house, 1219 Locust street. Hubert Carlton, general manager of the local chapter, and Frank Peenaybaker have filed a cross action for $900 damages for loss of his uniform appendix, declaring it was removed unnecessarily.

KRUGER LEFT FUND FOR BOER WIDOWS

Late President of Transvaal Bequeaths Fortune of $3,500,000 Largely to Charity.

SPECIAL Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Nov. 24.—Paul Kruger, the dead ex-president of the Transvaal, left a fortune of $3,500,000, the Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Mail telegraphs, in his will, $12,000 to the Dutch societies in Holland and sums to all the funds opened after the South African war for the support of the Boer widows and orphans.

He also made bequests for the maintenance of the Dutch language.

E.PASO, Tex., Nov. 24.—Dr. E. J. Melish of this city brought suit against Ed Peenaybaker to recover $246, alleged to be for medical treatment during an attack of appendicitis.

Peenaybaker has filed a cross action for $900 damages for loss of his uniform appendix, declaring it was removed unnecessarily.

LAW SUIT OVER AN APPENDIX

President's Daughter Won Two Bets at Bennington and Quit $66 Ahead for Day.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Miss Alice Roosevelt had solved the problem of how to pick winners at the races. Yesterday she placed two bets at Bennington and won $66 as a result of her good judgment in picking fast horses.

Miss Roosevelt's two winners were Sly Bride and Alster, which won the fifth and sixth races, respectively.

She had $10 on each horse. It was Miss Roosevelt's first visit to the race track since the meeting began last Thursday. She had scarcely reached the club house before she began to inquire the odds on the race that started in the various events. Unlike most of the fair ones, who bet gloves and bonbons on the result, she was deaf to wagering real money.

Miss Roosevelt called "Archie," the club house betting messenger, and is reported to have said:

"What are the odds against Sly Bride?"

"The price now is 5 to 1 straight, 2 to 1 place and 6 to 5 third" was the reply. Her opening odds were 10 to 1.

"Well, I want $5 straight and $5 third," said Miss Roosevelt.

"Archie" took the bet and recorded it $5 to 5 and $5 to 5.

Sly Bride won and Miss Roosevelt was $5 winner.

Alster was selected to win the last race. It was reported that Miss Roosevelt had bet on the horse, which is owned by Astor Chamberlain. That is believable, for Alster had won only one race in four years.

"Archie's" services were again demanded by the President's daughter to place her wager. This time she got $5 to 5 straight and $5 to 5 for the place. She also bet the may and winner, making the total winnings of Miss Roosevelt for the afternoon $66.

MERCHANT LOSES PURSE ON TRAIN

Frank Kleinschmidt Found Unconscious at Union Station and Taken to City Hospital.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Frank Kleinschmidt, a hardware merchant of Corder, Mo., unconscious from the effects of opium, was found in the chair of a Chicago & Alton train in the yards at Union Station Thursday morning.

The fact that he declarer that he never uses the drug, and that $20, which he had, is missing leads to the supposition that he was drugged and robbed. His gold watch and chain were not taken.

The train arrived at Union Station at 8 o'clock. It was not until it had been taken and the crew had left that the presence of their car was discovered.

Through the train yards, in passing was all right, made the discovery. He was arrested. The Friend supplied cloth to the passengers who had been opium and he was sent to the City Hospital. He recovered consciousness there and said that all he could remember was a couple of hours conversation with a couple of men in the car. He had a faint recollection of going to the smoking room. He was positive that he had not spent the night with which he left home.

The man has two scalp wounds, which are not serious. It is supposed that he sustained them in falling.

ADMITS HE TOOK THE CLOTHES

Negro Held on Charge of Robbing Pullman Passengers.

John Henry Doyle, a negro, 18 years old, of Harvey, Ill., is held at the Tower Grove police station on a charge of having robbed passengers of their clothing in the Pullman, or a Frisco train early Wednesday morning, as told in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch. The police say Doyle admits his guilt.

The negro was arrested at Pacific. Shortly after the robbery was discovered. The police say he had the stolen clothing and suit cases in his possession when he was arrested. The Friend supplied cloth to the passengers who had been

CHARGES THEFT OF HUSBAND

He Is 74 and Has Sold His Business, but Spouse Wants Him.

MERRIDEN, Conn., Nov. 24.—Martha C. Noxon of Brooklyn, N. Y., appeared before the probate court here and asked for a conservator over her 74-year-old husband, who formerly owned a drug store at 67 Fulton street, Brooklyn.

Mrs. Noxon is also suing Mrs. Mary E. Remington, a former salaried maid, who is accused of having stolen the affairs of her husband.

Richard Krosenke, a witness for the complainant, said that Noxon sold his business, which was worth $10,000, for $300, payable in weekly installments. Noxon gave an alibi, reasoning for seeking his wife and clerks were stealing coal from him and that he wished to get away from the rattle and noise of the big city.

Krosenke also swore to occasions when the Remington woman and Noxon were together.

Mrs. Noxon said she and her husband had lived together for 50 years when the Remington woman came in to their home about two years ago. Since then she has been abandoned. She has been a widow and went frequently about the yard during the day in his neighborhood and went to bed one day in his house.

Mrs. Noxon says her husband is worth several hundred thousand dollars. The hearing was continued until next week.

Mrs. Noxon wore valuable diamonds.

BIG PAYING CROWD AT WORLD'S FAIR

MILITIAMEN ENLIST FOR CHINESE ARMY

Thanksgiving day will go into World's Fair history as one of the great big days of the Exposition.

The crowds started early, and when the gates opened at 8 o'clock there were long lines of waiting people before each turnstile. This was particularly true of the main entrances, where the lines were frequently more than 100 deep, and when heavily loaded cars added their throngs as rapidly as they could swing around the loops.

At the less important entrances a proportionate increase in admissions was reported. A feature which interested the management of the Fair was the unusually large proportion of coin admissions. This was noticeable at all the gates.

PORLTAND, Ore., Nov. 24.—The Oregon prints the following today:

"Officers for the Chinese reform army are being recruited from the National Guard of this state, and it is said that already about 22 members, some of them locally prominent, have made application. Trained officers to the number of 800 are being sought by the reform association. All who make application are asked to secrecy. But it is learned that service is promised for five years, that transportation will be furnished and that the pay is to be 20 per cent greater than that of American officers in the tropics. The applicants have been told that the army they are to command will number 150,000."

MAN WANTED A CLOSER VIEW AND CRASHED THROUGH MARKET MAN'S SHOW WINDOW.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The first recorded victim of Thanksgiving turkey for the current year is George C. Carhart. At 9 o'clock last night he was seen to halt in front of R. C. Webb's market and flatten his nose against the show window.

He was an appetizing row of huge fat turkeys, picked, singed and ready for the oven.

Carhart is a keen admirer of this toothsome bird, and aroused emotion caused him to stop too close to the window.

With a mighty crash the window collapsed and Carhart shot headlong into the store. He laid claim to four among the turkeys. Patrons of the market had to pull him out of the window and tie him up to prevent his bundles and tied to the street, while police held him until he was restored to the scene.

Carhart is known as a maniac, and the good natured marketman refused to make a charge so he merely paid for the shattered window and went his way.

RATE CUT VERSUS TIME CUT

FRISCO RAILROAD PROCLAIMS WAR FOR EIGHT-HOUR SCHEDULE TO CHICAGO IS NOT RESTORED.

As a result of a war over the time between Chicago and St. Louis the Frisco system threatens, beginning Monday, to inaugurate a $5 rate between the two cities one way.

This action will be taken, it is said, unless the Chicago & Alton and the Wabash rates from the present seven-hour schedule to the Frisco are reduced to the same time ago between the Frisco, Wabash, Chicago & Alton and the Illinois Central roads.

The Frisco, which has been operating handicapped by distance, did not attempt to make the new time, but fought for the return of the agreement.

Other rates change which it is said the Frisco will inaugurate Monday, unless the eight-hour schedule is re-established are:

Chicago, round trip, $1.25; present fare, $1.00; round trip, 60-day limit, $7.50; present fare, $6.

St. Louis has more Post-Dispatch readers every day than it has homes.

LIFELONG CURES BY A TRUE SPECIALIST

Dr. Duff's Pelvic Methods are your greatest hope for a complete cure, if you are afflicted with either BLOOD POISON, STRUCTURE, VARIOCOELE, HYDROCELE, CYST, ETC., AND ALL DISEASES OF MANHOOD, PILES, RUPTURE, OR ANY AFFECTION OF THE KIDNEYS, BLADDER AND PROSTATE. You are wasting money and endangering your health by treating with ordinary physicians. My system of treatment has established their reliability by permanently curing cases that had been unsuccessfully treated by dozens of others.

SURE CURE is what I will give you beyond a doubt if your case is curable; if not I will not accept your money and promise to do nothing for you. The best results are given to those who are most hopeless. The many cured, satisfied patients I dismiss, and proves that my Pelvic Methods cure when others fail even to benefit.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF MR. HENNESSY, IN THE

Next Sunday Post-Dispatch

These are terrible times in the battle-scarred fortress as the following by the philosopher's wireless telegraph system shows:

"The conditions at Port Arthur baffle description an' stagger th' imagination. On'y fourteen of th' original defenders survive an', they are rayjooed to skeletons. They live in underground caves an' cook their boots on explodin' bombs dhropped in be the Japanese. Las' week, Gin'ral Blinkevitch shot an' kilt Gin'ral Bejeeski in a quarrel over a bar iv soap which th' former was atin' f'r lunch. Gin'ral Stoessel has lost both arms, a leg an' th' right ear, but is still cheerful."

SOLDIER HAS NO RIGHT OF DEFENSE

German Court Upholds Contention That Man in Ranks Cannot Strike Officer.

PROVOCATION NOT AN ISSUE

Men Who Defended Selves and Women Sentenced to Hard Labor—Officer Escapes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—A cable to the Sun from Berlin, says:

The German soldier does not possess the right of self-defense against an attack by men. The court's decision has been handed down in a case just ended at Dresden. The facts of the case are as follows:

Sgt. Heine, who was drunk, entered a public dancing saloon and insulted two girls who were in the company of two soldiers named Guenther and Voigt. The girls appealed to their companions for protection, and the soldiers protested to Heine, who drew his sword. He made a drunken lunge with the weapon and slightly wounded one of the girls. A violent scuffle ensued, which Heine was disarmed and fell to the floor.

Guenther and Voigt were arrested for striking their superior officer. In the course of the trial, the prisoners' counsel contended that they had acted in self-defense. He declared that it was permissible for soldiers to defend honor and life even against a superior officer.

"Nothing of the sort," responded the prosecuting counsel. "Self-defense is a conception that does not exist in the relations between officers and men."

Counsel for the defense asked:

"Must a soldier allow himself to be unresistingly slaughtered by a superior officer?"

The prosecutor replied: "Yes."

The court, however, partially dissenting from the opinion of the defense, said a soldier whose life was endangered, explaining that the soldier might parry, although he must not strike a counter blow.

The condemned man was sentenced to five years' hard labor, in addition to which they were dismissed from the army and deprived of all civil rights for three years, and to a three months' imprisonment for assault.

A demand that he be degraded to the rank was refused.

No torture compares to that of a rheumatic. Prescription No. 2851 by Elmer & Amend quickest relief of all.

and Life Is in Danger.

Mrs. Katherine Chenot, widow of the late Charles Chenot, one of the pioneer merchants of St. Louis, until his death about ten years ago, lies critically ill at Jesuites Hospital, Grand Avenue, and is listed still.

Mrs. Chenot is 85 years of age and three days after celebrating her 85th birthday was stricken with paralysis. She has had paralysis and his since been unable to speak. Strong hopes are entertained for her recovery, although her condition and advanced age argue against it.

MORGAN GETS HIS HORSE BACK.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt Takes Pity
on Victim of Substitution.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Alfred G. Vanderbilt, upon learning that his horse High Tide, which won a blue ribbon at the horse show last week, and which he purchased from the trotting stable in Port Chester, rightfully the property of J. F. Morgan, returned the animal at once to the banker.

High Tide was identified last week as King, a well-known champion of the show ring, which Mr. Morgan bought some time ago. The horse affably ran a mile in shipping the horses to Port Chester.

Jim Key Loves Children.

Before a crowded house of children this wonderful horse who has made the most money on the Pike is at his best. Every child from 3 years old up to 80 should see his really remarkable performance, for Jim Key can actually read, write, spell and
12 years old.

This is one attraction on the Pike that is recommended by every one.

NO DUTY ON DEAD HORSES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—A protest by Albert Utiget of Galveston, Tex., against being compelled to pay duty on dead horses entered from Mexico has been partly sustained by resolution of the board of general admiralty here.

Utiget entered the bond of Brownsville,
Tex., $200 hours in bond for transportation to Galveston, whereupon when seven were missing, three having died before crossing the frontier and four after their arrival in the United States. General Appraiser Hay ruled that no duty had been passed on the three dead in Mexico, whereas to the other four the importers had made an appeal to the secretary of the treasury.

Dr. Charles J. Tarr is plaintiff in a suit against the Fair Purchase Exposition
Co. for $1.50, the amount paid for admission into the Fair for himself his wife and his automobile.

It was instituted in Justice Cro-nin's court Wednesday. Dr. Tarr alleges that he was ejected from the fair grounds

after paying his way in because his automobile had no license plate attached. The plaintiff and defendant explained that the plate was lost and offered to make up the difference but that this had not been done.

TRAIL OF "DOVE" IS LOST

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 24.—The mysterious
"Dove," suspected of being the murderer of John W. Bate, Jr., a Chicago chauffeur, is supposed to be in hiding here. A young man answering "Dove's" description has been traced from Chicago into this vicinity and in consequence all the local police and deputy sheriffs are on the alert.

Presumably the man who killed young Bate while riding along a lonely country road was tracked to Dwight, where the same person inquired the fare to Peoria.
Recieving the information the man disappeared into the dark toward the railroad yards, and since then no trace of him has been found.

DAY OF SUSPENSE FOR MRS. LANGDON

Woman Prisoner Will Not Know Verdict in Forgery Case Until Friday Morning.

MOTHER BRINGS TURKEY

Jury's Long and Fruitless Balloting Followed by Order for Sealed Verdict.

Mrs. Langdon, whose plea of insanity as a defense against the charge of forgery was heard in the criminal division of the Circuit Court Wednesday, will not know until Friday morning whether the jury which heard her testimony believed her morally guilty or innocent.

She is spending her Thanksgiving day as she spent all of Wednesday night—sitting upright in her cell, shivering and eating nothing, awaiting the verdict and alternately between hope and fear.

The fury is undimmed. It began balloting when the case was closed at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, and continued without reaching a verdict until 11 o'clock. Before that hour the jurymen had been instructed by Judge Foster if they reached a verdict to seal it, deliver it to an official to be sent to the prison. Mother and daughter waited inside the screen the absence of Jader Dawson preventing Mrs. Blakeslee from securing permission to leave. She was given the pass to enter the screen by Mrs. Dawson.

Mrs. Langdon declared that she had no appetite for the dinner her mother provided for her and divided it among her fellow prisoners.

SCHOOL CHILDREN FEED POOR.

Two Hundred Families Enjoy Thanksgiving as Result of Gifts.

To the school children of the Emerson, Baden, Riddick, Stoddard, Crow and Washington schools and the Baden kindergarten, 200 poor families living along the levee owe gratitude to the Thanksgiving dinner which they have received.

For many weeks the children of these schools have been saving their mites that they might have something to give. The result was that all together the mites made quite a large sum, which was sufficient to buy ham, corn meal, gravy mixtures, fruit butter, bacon, celery, vegetables and canned goods to 200 families.

The articles were distributed at the Levee Mission, where the mothers were calling with baskets and being made happy for the day at least.

Good Price for Illinois Building.

The Northern Illinois Construction company of St. Louis has purchased the Illinois state building at the World's Fair, paying $4250, the highest price which has been paid for the state building. The original cost was $30,000.

MRS. ROBERTS' WILL REJECTED

Witness' Signature Cause of One Beneficiary Losing a Share.

Because of the failure of one of the witnesses to sign his name in the presence of the testatrix, the will of Mrs. Harriet Roberts has been rejected in the Probate Court at Clayton, and the estate will go to law in that jurisdiction to determine the value of inheritance. This excludes from participation in the estate Miss Grace Hazard, widow of Mr. Roberts, who was made a beneficiary of the will. The estate is valued at $17,500.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and furthers a natural and eminently safe excretion.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disintegrates the mouth and throat from the poison of tar.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of the large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the complexion, brighter complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician is speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty cents a box, and are sold in drug stores, and although in some respects a slight preparation, yet I believe I get more value for my money in Stuart's Charcoal lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

MISS PRINCESS A. BAILEY

Miss Princess A. Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Bailey of 201 Dickson street, will be wedded at 8 o'clock Thanksgiving evening to Mr. Edward A. Haid, a member of the firm of Jones, Jones & Hocker, attorneys, at the home of the bride's parents.

The wedding follows an acquaintance which has existed since both were children. The ceremony will be a quiet one, only the relatives being present. It will be performed by the Rev. Dr. L. E. Todd, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Miss Bailey is a vocalist of talent, and is a member of the choir of the First Methodist Church. She is a young and successful attorney. He is a graduate of the St. Louis Law School. For several years Mr. Haid was secretary to Judge Clegg of the Trial of the United States Court of Appeals.

They will leave Thursday night for a short wedding trip.

NO KEY EXISTS TO PORT ARTHUR FORTIFICATIONS

Gen. Kodama Says No One Fort Gives Army Advantage Over Other Points as Plan Has Been Changed Since China War.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE JAPANESE THIRD ARMY, Outside Port Arthur, via Shanghai, Nov. 24.—Gen. Kodama, chief of the Japanese general staff, after a thorough inspection of the operations at Port Arthur and a conference with Gen. Nogi, gave the following interview to Richard Barry, the Daily News staff correspondent:

"The Russian forts," he said, "are well built on the Belgian model. The general situation of the fort is also similar to that of the Belgian forts. They are well built, well garrisoned and there are no earthworks, with some masonry and a little concrete. A clever engineer designed them. We find them absolutely changed since the China war, when we took Port Arthur in one day."

"One fort, Etchegau, was the key of the whole position. Once that had been taken all the others fell. Now we can not say any single fort is the key. All are so arranged that we must take them in detail. The capture of one means only the capture of that individual fort; not of a series, as formerly. Study as we may, we find it difficult to locate their weakness, they have carried fortification to such a point."

"When will you winter about Port Arthur?" I asked. "You are not building barracks and have only shelter tents. The Manchurian winds bite bitterly."

"I shall winter inside," replied the general. "I will take the big fortress soon. I hesitate to use my big guns for fear of hurting non-combatants. I cannot say what damage the big guns will do. This is the first time in history that coast defense guns have engaged each other. I brought ours from Japan. The Russians cannot use their against Admiral Togo's feet, and have turned them inward."

"Why do the Russians not use their guns against the fleet?"

Kodama, sketching Port Arthur with his triangular parallel lines representing the outer harbor, said:

"The outer lines shows our mines; the inner the Russian mines. Our series of electrical mines is laid counter to theirs. If struck by shells they would explode and set off the Russian series, damaging the coast defenses of the harbor. Thus checked by mines and counter-mines, the Russian coast defenses and our navy must remain inactive. The Russian fleet is unwilling to take the initiative, and so the enemy has turned not only the coast defense guns but even his naval guns inward. In reply to this I brought from Japan our coast-defense mortars and naval guns. You will see two great naval equipments fighting on land. I wish I could bring all the world's tacticians to witness these lessons for future warfare. The question is, are our naval guns and guns of position and re-enforced field artillery more powerful than the Russian naval and coast defense guns now re-enforcing the forts?"

"In the end, however," I said, "is not the boy in khaki the deciding force? Your infantry loss thus far has been heavy, and your infantry must finally take the fortress if it is ever taken."

"No," said Kodama. "This is a question of strategy, tactics and engineering. I have an army large enough to take Port Arthur. The enemy has about 30,000 troops; we have about 65,000—three to one—a sufficient force even considering their defenses. It would be impossible to use more men. The outcome now depends on ammunition and supplies."

"How about food?" I asked. "It is reported that you permit transports and junks to run the blockade, wishing only the glory of taking the fortress by assault."

"That is absolutely false," replied the general. "Our blockade is perfect."

Falls From Second Story Window
When Mother Leaves It and Is Not Hurt.

Little Lauretta Dix, a bouncing 2-year-old baby, fell from a second-story window to the ground, a distance of ten feet, Wednesday night, and sustained only slight scratches.

The mother had left the child alone at her home, 461 McNeely avenue, for a few minutes, and she came from a short distance away and fell. Neighbors picked her up and carried her to a doctor's office, but his treatment was hardly needed.

Harper's Book News*The Masquerader

Here is a book made of paper and ink like any other book—but different. Who shall say wherein the difference lies? Who can tell just why this book has been run away with by the public, why the presses are kept continuously busy over it, why the libraries cannot supply their patrons, nor bookstores keep it sufficiently in stock? The fact that it is a great story of a man and a woman with red blood in their veins does not entirely answer the question—there is more than that to it. Other novels languish. Why not this?

When it was running serially people kept writing to the editor begging for advance proofs, one man pleading that he had heart disease and feared he might die before it came to a close. A reader of the English Blackwood's for sixty years says: "Not since I waited feverishly for 'Monte Cristo' to appear have I been so excited by a story." And Mrs. Thurston has given us what Dumas did not—a perpetually increasing wonder as to how the adventure is to end."

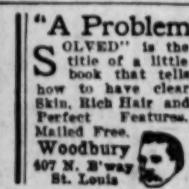

The New York Evening Mail says of the novel:

"This is a story of a strong man and a strong woman and their high-handed grasp for happiness in the face of the moral law. The woman magnificently in her love, the man, confident of conquest, above fear, above conscience. Circumstances give her the right to follow the dictates of an overwhelming passion."

"It will take rank with the few really good books."

Already in England and in America the book is being made into a play, and France and Germany have begun translating it.

Zemstvoists Leave St. Petersburg to Spread News of Their Meeting Throughout Empire, Confident Their Demands Cannot Be Ignored.

ROYAL FAMILY SAID TO OPPOSE YIELDING

"I Do Not Wish to See My Son Blown Up," Was Answer of Empress When Asked for Her Opinion.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 24.—The meeting of the Zemstvoists is ended, the members today dispersing to their homes and in a few days the news of their action will be spread throughout Russia to the Finnish gulf, the Caspian sea, Poland and the Urals mountains. They are leaving in high spirits, confident that no matter what the immediate results, the days, Nov. 19 to 22, will mark a turning point in Russian history.

"The Rubicon is crossed. No retreat is possible," is the unanimous sentiment.

At last night's joint meeting of editors and literary men and the Zemstvoists the greatest enthusiasm prevailed and the full support was pledged to the program adopted.

Interior Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky has informed the Zemstvoists that he will lay the memorial resolutions before the Emperor and while he has no present regarding his personal recommendations, the Zemstvoists are satisfied that the prince will not leave the Emperor in the dark regarding the breadth, strength and import of the movement.

There is an intimation that the Emperor has already been advised of the action of the meeting and has expressed himself as unfavorable to it.

According to a story which is told without circumlocution, M. Pobedonostsev, the procurer of the holy synod informed the Emperor that in his opinion autocracy had reached the parting of the ways. There was no middle course. He said that the old Emperor could not be prepared to grant a constitution. M. Pobedonostsev is said to have contended himself with the expression of the old opinion, without offering any advice.

Thereupon, they story goes, the Emperor called a family council at which opinion was presented that the time had arrived for a revolution. The young Empress when asked for her view is said to have replied briefly:

"I do not wish to see my son blown up."

Such stories, however, partake of the nature of common gossip in St. Petersburg and are not repeated in well-informed circles, may have little foundation.

Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky has issued instructions forbidding the arrest of newspaper men for articles printed in the newspapers.

Police Arrest James Fawcett
After an Exciting Chase
Along Olive Street.

James Fawcett was arrested as he was boarding an Olive street car late Wednesday afternoon after a hasty chase along Olive street. A second man, who was said to have been with Fawcett, escaped.

The two were in the second floor of a department store on Olive street, when a saleman from Sixth and Seventh streets, when a saleman from beneath the coat of one of the men, she gave the alarm and the men fled. They were pursued by Cornelius Gunn, a fireman. The fireman down Olive street was seen by Patrolman Mahoney, who gave chase and arrested one of the men and took him to the police station.

Fawcett at the time of his arrest was under bond on two charges, one of attempted burglary. That case is to be tried next week.

TURKENS FOR ALL.

A pleasant event took place the day before Thanksgiving at the Offices of Mel-Ford Company, 29 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, and the second day of the annual custom, to exchange felicitations on the completion of another successful year of kindred and harmonious work together. Mr. Thomas D. Ford, President and Treasurer of the Company, read the Thanksgiving Proclamation of the President of the United States and that of the Governor of Massachusetts, then in behalf of the Directors, he expressed his appreciation of the employees' work during the past 12 months, noting the increase in the business had been large and even beyond the expectation of the most sanguine. The record had been broken and that he was much gratified with the results attained. He thanked all for their hearty co-operation in producing these results.

At the close of his remarks, Mr. Dollier, beginning his message, why he had most recently entered the employ of the Company and then in order ranged according to years of service, gave to each, with due ceremony, a compacted, large, fat turkey. More than half ton of turkeys was received. More than two-thirds of them were turkeys given to the men of the Mel-Ford Company, having been with the Mel-Ford Company for at least 10 years, while with some, the years of service range as high as 18, 21, 22, 27 and 30 years.

TURKEY BRIDGES CHASM OF RACE AND LANGUAGE AT WILD FOLKS' DINNER

Children of Strange and Savage Races Feast at World's Fair Playground, and Elders at Indian School.

With 10 special Thanksgiving dinners besides the special menus in all the restaurants, and with exercises at 10:30 o'clock in Festival Hall, the population of the World's Fair celebrated Thanksgiving day Thursday. The strange people who celebrated their first Thanksgiving were everywhere the center of attention.

The entire program of the day was arranged with special reference to the exercises and the dinners, and provision was made to enable every official and employee to get his share of turkey and cranberry sauce.

It is estimated that 150 turkeys were eaten at the special dinners, and the restaurant managers expect to use 2000 more in feeding the visitors who will take enough time from seeing the sights to eat their turkey dinners.

The exercises of the day were held at 10:30 o'clock in Festival Hall. The clergy of the city participated. Archbishop John J. Glennon presided. President Francis of the World's Fair made introductory remarks and read the President's Thanksgiving proclamation. Other addresses were by Rabbi Leon Harrison, Rev. M. Rhodes of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Rev. James W. Lee of St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church South and Rev. W. W. Boyd of the Second Baptist Church.

A warm hall and a warm stage were not some of the things enumerated by the speakers as things meet to be thankful for. Hall and stage were most inhospitably cold.

Places near the stoves on the stage were favored, and some in the audience kept their overcoats and hats on.

The most stirring address was that of Rabbi Harrison. His subject was "American Citizenship." He said he was most thankful for the fact that he was an American citizen. He said the real chosen people were the American people and the real promise land was America.

He was repeatedly cheered by the audience.

The speech of President Francis and those of the others on the program were shorter.

A Scott-Brooks of Los Angeles, Ernest R. Kroeger of St. Louis and J. A. O'Shea of Boston played selections on the big organ. The Exposition chorus sang "The Hymn of the West," the official hymn of the Exposition, and "America."

preceding the exercises the directors of the World's Fair met in the Administration building and went in a body to Festival Hall, having seats on the platform during the exercises.

Chief among the dinners following the exercises was that at the Model Playground for the children of all nations. National commissioners, members of the Board of Lady Managers, Exposition officials and foreign commissioners assisted in waiting on the children.

Children Feast at Playgrounds.

More than 200 from the Pike, the anthropological section and the Philippines sat about the tables loaded with turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie and the other essentials of a Thanksgiving feast. A band played while they ate, and when they finished only the ruins of a dinner remained on the big tables.

Side by side sat the quaint Alains, the pygmies and the Patagonian children, incipient head hunters and Moro chieftains from the Philippines and young Asiatas, Japanese and Chinese from the Pike.

While the children dined at the playgrounds their elders feasted in the Indian school and at the Philippine reservation. Each village at the Philippine was the scene of a feast. The Igorotes introduced turkey as an innovation, but also had a few dogs to remind them of old times. The Visayans and the Moros had their chicken feasts.

At the Indian school Sup't. McCowan served turkeys and its companion dishes for 50 Patagonian Pygmies, Alains and Indians, who found themselves too busy even to discover that they could not all speak the same language. Indian girls in white caps and gowns waited on the tables set in the big school dining rooms.

Another big dinner was that served by the Board of Lady Managers at their house for the members of the Jefferson Guard. This did not begin until 10 o'clock, but the native cooks, waiters and waitresses waited as they came from duty. Altogether more than 500 men partook of the lady managers' hospitality.

At the New York Building the state commission gave a dinner for all its employees, whether at the state building or in the various exhibit places.

Evening shows on the Pike or at the Philippines were not allowed to interfere with the dinners. The natives ate first and danced and sang afterward. Visitors who wanted to see the feasts had to pay for them if they had been dances.

Before 12 o'clock the natives from various villages assembled at the designated dinning places, wore their gayest clothes and brightest paints.

They chattered excitedly among themselves while waiting to be seated at the tables. They submitted to the curiosity of white visitors, and answered the questions which their limited knowledge could not supply.

At the Model playgrounds the little Igorotes tried first gratitude and then English upon the quiet Alains and Indians.

The Eskimos didn't work, but expressed their pleasure with grunts and gestures.

At the Indian school the Alains chomped

He was repeatedly cheered by the audience.

The speech of President Francis and those of the others on the program were shorter.

A Scott-Brooks of Los Angeles, Ernest R. Kroeger of St. Louis and J. A. O'Shea of Boston played selections on the big organ. The Exposition chorus sang "The Hymn of the West," the official hymn of the Exposition, and "America."

preceding the exercises the directors of the World's Fair met in the Administration building and went in a body to Festival Hall, having seats on the platform during the exercises.

Chief among the dinners following the exercises was that at the Model Playground for the children of all nations. National commissioners, members of the Board of Lady Managers, Exposition officials and foreign commissioners assisted in waiting on the children.

The most stirring address was that of Rabbi Harrison. His subject was "American Citizenship." He said he was most thankful for the fact that he was an American citizen. He said the real chosen people were the American people and the real promise land was America.

He was repeatedly cheered by the audience.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Founded by JOSEPH PULITZER. Published by THE PULITZER PUBLISHING CO., 210-212 N. BROADWAY.

Give thanks, give praise,
And mend your ways.

We can be thankful that Panama is now reported quiet.

We may be thankful that the cost of the Philippine Islands and that of the friar lands was only $627,000,000.

The large Missouri cities are thankful that the Supreme Court has decided that the antismoke law is constitutional.

The World's Fair bills payable have all been paid. Financially as in all other respects the great Exposition is a success.

Gen. Kodama says he will winter in Port Arthur. Better take care. Gen. Kurokata said he was going to march from one end of Japan to the other before the snow fell.

POLITICAL LIBERTY IN RUSSIA.

The memorandum adopted by the representatives of the Russian Zemstvo reveals an unexpected knowledge of sound political doctrine.

This document, which must become famous in Russian history, declares principles which lie at the base of political and social life and progress.

Section 6 declares that "it is essential to guarantee freedom of conscience and speech and of the press, and also freedom of meeting and association."

This is flatly in contradiction to the arbitrary principles hitherto practiced in the Czar's dominions, where free speech, a free press and freedom of assembly have been identified with anarchy by the bureaucratic government.

It is insisted that a true state can be created only when the government and people are connected by a tie vital and organic. Section 9 recites that "in order to secure the proper development of the life of the state and the people, it is imperatively necessary that there be regular participation of national representatives, sitting as an especially elected body, to make laws, regulate the revenues and expenditures and control the legality of the actions of the administration."

This is startling doctrine in Russia and it remains to be seen how the Czar will conduct himself toward the newly revealed spirit of liberty and political health. Of course the bureaucrats and oligarchs are stricken with fear and wonder and they will do what they can to suppress the movement. It all appears to depend upon Nicholas. If he is wise enough and strong enough to choose liberal, progressive, constructive advisers, Russia may be saved a convulsion. The alternative is a desperate struggle between anarchy and bureaucratic tyranny.

The museum project is well under way. The gentlemen who have undertaken to carry it through are accustomed to success in large affairs and will no doubt accomplish the desired object. The exhibits of the World's Fair constitute a rich treasury from which to choose a collection which shall be the nucleus of an ever-growing multitude of objects of historical, scientific and art interest. St. Louis has now reached the stage of growth in which public interests possess a most lively attraction for all liberal minds, and the museum appeals especially to such. The fund, to begin with, should be raised promptly. That done and the museum an assured fact, there will be little difficulty in maintaining and improving it.

LIVING THE SIMPLE LIFE.

Patriotism and fashion both demand that we make a strenuous attempt to live the simple life, now that President Roosevelt has set his official and literary seal of approval on Pastor Wagner's book.

We shall try hard, of course, but certain modern conditions may be urged in extenuation of failure, if they do not constitute an excuse for such failure.

In New York, for example, the business man or clerk starts downtown in the morning, determined to spend the day calmly as a disciple of the new doctrine should. He is riding in the subway. Suddenly a man falls headlong under the forward car and is cut in two. Then, as a New York paper says: "The sudden jamming together of the cars knocked loose one of the small iron gates at the platform. This fell on the third rail. Instantly there was a flash, followed by puffs of smoke along the length of the train. The broken gate had made a short circuit, and the fuses were burned out on two of the cars. Blue flames and sparks flashed along the sides of the cars, and instantly a new panic started among the passengers, hardly over their first alarm. Some one in the forward car cried out that it had caught fire, and there was a general rush to get out."

We believe it was in Washington, where President Roosevelt introduced Pastor Wagner as the man of the hour, that a huge furnace on wheels, full of hot metal used for welding street car rails, ran down hill after a street car the other day. How can a man be expected to live the simple life with such modern chimneys suddenly rushing upon him?

In St. Louis we have grade crossings, street cars, automobiles, elevators that sometimes let go, Sunday saloons with a rising death rate, a constant run of holdups, a municipal assembly that does all sorts of surprising things, and airships that are liable to fall into anyone's back-yard and blow up.

Out in the Ozarks it's easy to live as Pastor Wagner would have us, but not in the modern metropolis.

The Panama army has been disbanded save for 25 men "retained to meet the statutory requirement for a standing army." This does not include the captain-general, the lieutenant-general, the four major-generals, half a hundred brigadiers, and colonels not a few. While the supply of epaulets and sashes holds out there will be no sparseness of military talent.

THE DOUGLAS IDEA.

Mr. W. L. Douglas, governor-elect of Massachusetts, reports his election expenses to have been $35,000. His nomination cost him nothing.

Mr. Douglas had what he considered a good thing: that is he had an idea. He believed that everybody wanted it. Hence he pushed it along, as he had pushed along that other good thing with which observers of billboards and newspaper advertisements, and some other people are familiar.

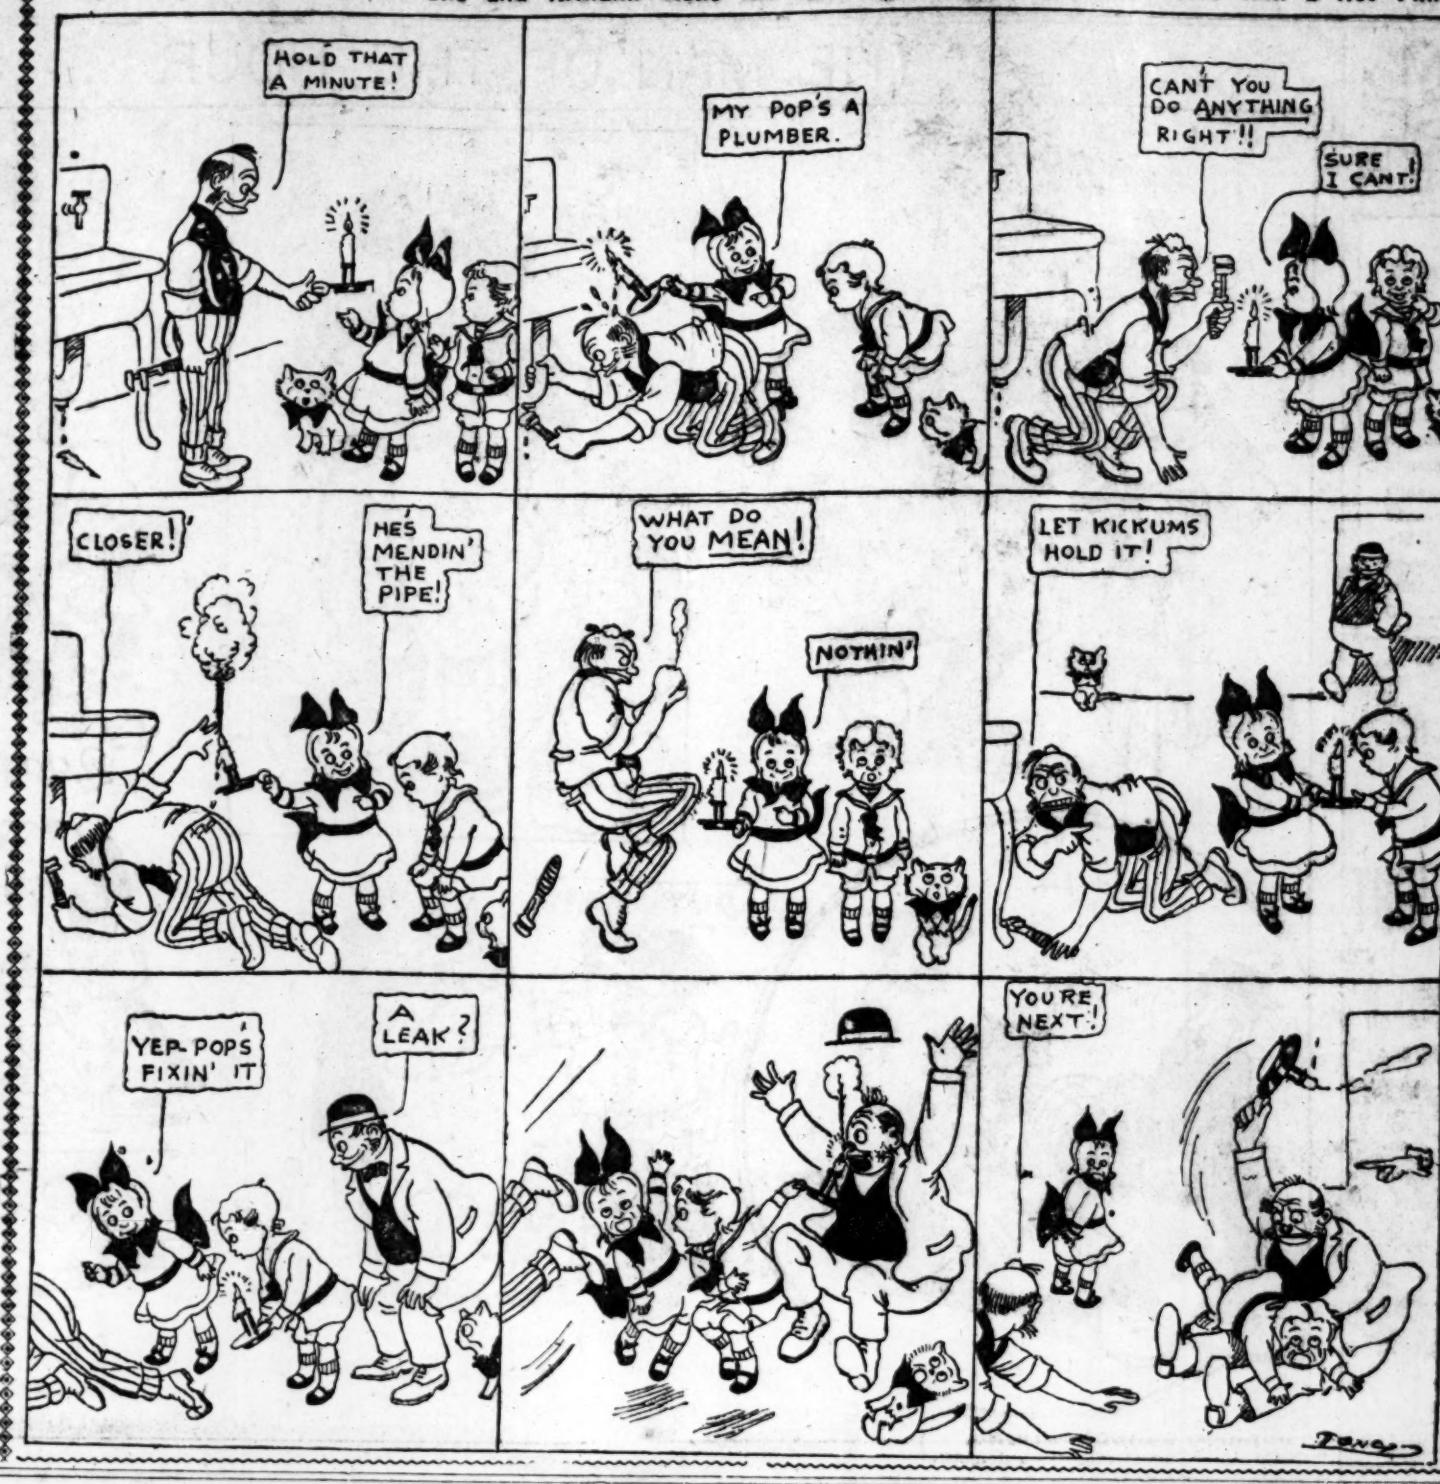

That is to say, he advertised. And on the night of Nov. 8 he got returns. The good thing "took."

The lesson is that you can most effectively push along a good thing by using another good thing—advertising. A shoe, a gubernatorial policy, a whim-wham, a revolution—it matters not; if you think you have a good thing, push it along by advertising. You can make it go; and if it is really a good thing you can keep it going by the same means.

As much is spent for every state as Mr. Douglas spent in Massachusetts, the national campaign fund would be about $1,670,000. But by wholesale the advertising could be had for $1,000,000. For this sum the merits of a party policy and the shining virtue of a candidate could be made known to all the voters. And every dollar of it would be honestly spent.

ON THE SUBURBAN TRAIN

They looked away on the horizon and marked the great smoke cloud which stretched from the belching stacks of the big city athwart the half-lighted skies.

Down there under the smoke the city was beginning its day of toil. The insurance man's competitors were already at the desk doing what they could to put him out of business. The druggist's rivals were going the fat, rich worms of opportunity which await the eager commercial bird. The bookkeeper's boss was down and wondering if the bookkeeper worked.

The conductor waved the commuters back to the coaches, and the train backed up five miles and got on another track.

It reached the city an hour late.

"St. Louis!" called the conductor, holding the footstock in front of his face as though he expected some of the indignant commuters to shoot him.

THE TERMINAL TOWER.

How It Is Run—from a Commuter's Standpoint.

Scene—Switch tower in Terminal yards, St. Louis, Time, morning.

Superintendent tipped back in his chair taking morning nap; everything quiet; wake up, rubs his eyes, and addresses the man at the lever.

"Well, Sam, all the express in?"

"Yes."

"All freight switching done?"

"Yes."

"How about that gravel train unloading on track eleven?"

"All unloaded and gone, sir."

"Well," hesitatingly, "I guess you better let that Missouri Pacific local come in."

Lever man indignantly: "Why, they have only been waiting an hour and a quarter."

Superintendent: "Well, anyhow, if there is nothing else to put in ahead of them, I guess you better let them on in."

Snide Light on History.

With a charred stick Abel had litmed a rude likeness of Cain's face upon a smooth stone.

"Great snakes!" exclaimed Cain, "what was eyes and hollow cheeks you have given me?"

"Well," replied Abel, "the paint brush has not been invented yet, and therefore you will have to be satisfied with a drawn expression."

Which was the beginning of the tragedy.

Euclid's assistant was making some figures for a geometrical problem.

"It seems to me," remarked the master, as he looked them over, "that this equilateral parallelogram is considerably out of gear."

"I know," said the assistant, apologetically, "but I was out with the boys last night, and my hand is a bit shaky this morning."

"In that case," said Euclid, good-naturedly, "I'll call it square."

For a moment he stepped around, himself—Chicago Journal.

A PLEA FOR CATTY WOMEN.

By Nixola Greeley-Smith, Granddaughter of Horace Greeley.

Written for the Post-Dispatch.

Perhaps the most frequent and uncompromisingly adjectives applied by women to each other is the word "catty." And when one thinks of the various feline qualities common to the feminine half of mankind, one realizes that it can seldom be applied amiss. Generally, however, the term is applied and regarded in a derogatory sense. And this seems scarcely fair. For while it may be questioned whether we do not all at one time or another deserve it, it is by no means certain that it is at all a bad thing to be.

Every woman likes to be called kittenish—the more elephantine she is the better she likes it—and yet every one objects to being described as "catty." Yet cats have the supreme quality of always landing on their feet, no matter whence they tumble, or are thrown. And if women could only share this with them they might well bear with patience and equanimity the accusation that they resemble them in their less desirable aspects.

They are fortunately a few women who seem to possess this magic gift, who, no matter what the complication of circumstances by which they may be temporarily nonplussed, manage to purr—or sometimes even scratch—their way to a triumphant issue.

But the majority of us seem content to resemble the cat tribe in its less admirable traits, in its sudden treacheries and angers, and there are even those among us who display that peculiar attachment of the cat for places rather than people.

In a recent novel the hero asks the heroine, just after he has proposed to her, if she likes cats, and when she gives an affirmative answer his last, lingering doubt as to the wisdom of his choice is dispelled.

The following feeling that makes us wondrous kind might certainly apply to this instance, and perhaps no woman can be truly feminine and perfect a disliked for cats.

The peculiar sympathy between the cat and the old maid may be due to the recognition of sympathetic qualities. It is certain that the "cattier" a woman is the greater the fondness for the feline tribe she displays. There is not the least use in denying the affinity. But why be ashamed of it? Cats have their undesirable qualities, of course; but the cat tribe is certainly the most beautiful and the most graceful among the animals, and since to be a kitten one must inevitably be a cat, who would not glory in the feminine-feline resemblance? There is no use in being ashamed of our weaknesses when we can always pretend that they are virtues and make the best of them.

OVERWORK AS CAUSE OF RAILROAD WRECKS.

E. A. Mosley, in Review of Reviews.

It is undeniable that many of the accidents which occur are largely contributed to by the fatigue to which trainmen are subjected. Could we trace the causes of the first cause we should probably find that many of those cases of mindless overworking, or forgetting orders were due to the fact that wits were dulled and senses numbed by lack of rest. In the distressing wreck at Glenwood, Ill., last summer in which a large number of excursionists were killed and injured by a freight train running into a passenger train, the evidence at the coroner's inquest showed that the freight engineer (who, the officials of the road said, "disregarded plain orders and acted like a crazy man") had been on duty more than twenty hours. In commenting on this case it was perfunctorily said by one of the Chicago papers that "the officials of the company might as well fill their engines and firemen with whisky or drug them with opium as to send them out for fifteen and seventeen hours of continuous work, expecting them to keep their heads, apply intelligently the general rules of the road, and give exact obedience to all orders."

It was pointed out on behalf of the company in this Glenwood case that the company rules permitted employees to take ten hours' rest after they had been on duty sixteen hours. It is a universal rule with railroad companies to permit a period of rest after a certain period of duty before employees are called upon to go on duty again. But the trouble is that these rules are permissive, not mandatory. They do not compel employees to take rest unless the employers themselves think they need it, and as a consequence the necessities of the roads, growing out of the movement of traffic, coupled with the greed of the men, who in many cases overwork themselves in order to achieve a big month's pay, render the rules of little or no effect.

Now, there is no well-organized system of relieving crews on the road after they have been on continuous duty for as long as 16 hours. It is a common practice when crews ask for rest in the middle of a trip to run them into a side track off the road and let them sleep on the train before completing the trip.

The sort of rest that men get while lying down in a cramped position on an engine while fully clothed, is not satisfying, and cases are reported in our bulletins where men have pulled right out of a side track in the face of an opposing train, after such a period of rest, under the impression that the train had gone. Furthermore, the construction that is likely to be placed on these rest rules of railroad companies is obvious from a quotation of the rule in force in one of the most prominent roads in the country, the Erie:

"When a train or yard men have been over ten hours on continuous duty they will, after arrival at the terminus, be entitled to eight hours' rest without prejudice, except when necessary to avoid delay to livestock or perishable freight." It will be noted that the period of rest is allowed only after arrival at the terminus, and then only when it will not delay the movement of livestock or perishable freight. When it is considered that in one of the accidents noted above the train crew had been on duty 26 hours and 59 minutes, and had not yet arrived at the terminus, it will be seen how little relief is afforded by such rules in many urgent cases.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A MONUMENTAL MOUND.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Much has been written about what to do with the rubbish that was eliminated from the destruction of the World's Fair buildings. Please allow me to advance an idea. This city is known as the Mountain City and all the original mounds have been removed. Therefore, before the earth is leveled and plaster and cement and loose lime and such other material as could be used for such purpose be taken to the space between the Transportation building and the Stockade building. This would be a monumental mound there to left for all time. It would be a monument and a relic of the great Fair and in time vegetation and shrubbery would grow and the city would not have to pile it up as it would if it were to haul it away from the grounds. J. S. G.

TYLER AVENUE-FRISCO CROSSING.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Please allow me once again to try to get the city authorities and the Frisco railway management to see the condition of the Tyler Avenue crossing. It is a mile from the Frisco station to the Frisco crossing, and the crossing is in the city limits, and entitled to fair treatment.

Before the Frisco railway cut down its grade and began to use it to make a mile or more along there as storage for old cars, we could cross the track anywhere to get from one suburb to the other without hindrance or danger. They have since built the Tyler Avenue crossing, and it should be unobstructed at all times. Since complaints were published in the Post-Dispatch of the railway blocking the crossing on that street, and since the school board and street commissioners have made the crossing safer for children, the railroad has shown a little more consideration by occasionally leaving a narrow space between cars at the crossing. This is not good enough, however. We must have a wide space on a public street, and the people demand that the entire width of Tyler Avenue be cleared of the crossing. This will be in order in my opinion. The crossing is a trifling expense. The police should and must help us in this matter. It is little enough to expect, and we are determined to push it to an issue. H. M. WILLIAMS.

SUBURBAN TRAIN SERVICE.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I notice with extreme satisfaction your editorials in regard to the lack of transportation facilities for suburban residents, and especially those living beyond the suburban limit, which is the last suburban accommodation of any road running out of the city and the Missouri Pacific, beyond Kirkwood, the worst.

The most beautiful and picturesque country bordering the Meramec River for stations between Kirkwood and Pacific have but one train a day each way, night and morning, the same they had when the road was built. The road is the best portion of the day, the train comes in so early as to spoil the best portion of the day.

It is impossible to go out to points beyond Valley Park on the Missouri Pacific and return without commanding the whole day. The cars are always crowded, and the accommodations are crowded, especially on Sundays. Such accommodations do not compare with the building up of the country, although the land is cheap and the scenery attractive. A COUNTRY CITIZEN.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Please keep up your agitation for better suburban service, including accommodation for persons who do business in the city, reside at places within a 20-mile radius of the city, and who are entitled to consideration from the railway companies.

They say suburban traffic does not pay and yet the Missouri Pacific cut the fare to Kirkwood from 16¢ to 8¢ to get the trade from the electric roads. No city has more beautiful suburbs than St. Louis, and I do not believe any place in the world can match them. The roads will spend vast amounts in advertising through travel and wear, and the percentage received by roads running east and west in Missouri on a ticket from New York to San Francisco will be small.

INDOOR GAMES.

Drop the Handkerchief.
A ring is formed by the players joining hands while one child, who is to "drop the handkerchief," is left outside. He walks around the ring, touching each one with the handkerchief, saying the following words:

I wrote a letter to my love,
But on my way I dropped it;
A little child picked it up,
And put it in his coat.
It won't you? It wasn't you.
It wasn't me.

When he says "It was you," he must drop the handkerchief behind one of the players, who picks it up and chases him around the ring, outside and under the joined hands, until he can touch him with the handkerchief. As soon as this happens the first player joins the ring, while it is now the turn of the second to "drop the handkerchief."

Cat and Mouse.

The children sit in two rows opposite each other with a space between. One child takes the place of the "cat," being blindfolded, and one takes the place of "mouse," and is also blindfolded, the cat standing at one end of the row and the mouse at the opposite end. They start in opposite directions, guiding themselves by the chairs the cat trying to catch the mouse. When the mouse is caught it is made the cat, and one of company takes the place of the mouse.

The Sea King.

This game can be played by any number of children. They proceed by first choosing one of the party to act as the Sea King, whose duty it is to stand in the center of a ring formed by the players seating themselves around him. The circle should be as large as possible. Each of the players having chosen the name of a fish, the king runs round the ring, calling them by the names which they have selected.

Each one, on hearing his name called, rises at once and follows the king, who, when all his subjects have left their seats, calls out: "The sea is troubled," and seats himself suddenly. His example is immediately followed by his subjects. The one who fails to obtain a seat has then to take the place of king, and the game is continued.

Japanese War Gardening.

The war has also suggested a variety of new designs for that charming object, the toko-niwa, or "alcove garden." This is a miniature garden—perhaps less than two feet square—contrived within an ornamental shadow box made of porcelain or other material, and placed in the alcove of a guest-room by way of decoration. You may see there a tiny pond; a streamlet crossed by humped bridges of Chinese pattern; dwarf trees forming a grove, and shading the model of a Shinto temple; imitations in baked clay of stone lanterns—perhaps even the appearance of a hamlet of thatched cottages. If the toko-niwa be not too small, you may see real fish swimming in the pond, or a pet tortoise crawling among the rock work. Sometimes the garden represents Hora, and the palace of the Dragon-King.

The new varieties have come into fashion. One is a model of Port Arthur, showing the harbor and the forts; and with the materials for the display there is sold a little map, showing how to place certain tiny battleships representing the imprisoned and the investing fleets. The other toko-niwa represents a Korean or Chinese

GIRL'S FAVORITE BOOKS.

A device for making children reveal their tastes in fiction was recently carried out by the Girl's Realm of London. The readers of this magazine, children in their teens, were asked to imagine a tea party to which they were to invite their 12 favorite girls in fiction.

Jo March, the heroine of "Little Women," received eight times as many "invitations"
as the next name, which was that of Maggie Tulliver from "The Mill on the Floss."
Other names high in the list were Lorna Doone, Isabel Carberry, Florence Dombey, Dorothy Bennett (from "Pride and Prejudice") and Babette (from "The Little Minister").

So far as I can gather, says a London man, the most popular writers for girls now at work are Miss Ethel Turner, whose "Seven Little Australians" and some sequels are having a large sale; Mrs. Nas-bitt, whose "Magic Carpet" in the Strand Magazine has been a great success; Mrs.
De Horne Valley, whose "Peggy Saville" and "More About Peggy" have a large sale; Miss Evelyn Green, whose book
"The Children Who Ran Away" is a very delightful piece of work; Mrs. Stuart Robertson, Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin, whose recent story "Rebecca" can boast a sale of 20,000 copies in England and America; Miss Sydney Woolf, whose "All in a Castle Fair" had some well-deserved success, and Mrs. Robertson-Glasgow.

"No, no," said the professor's wife, "you know the worst of it. What's the use of going on? Besides, I hear the baby crying."

"Ah," said the professor, dryly, turning to his "Fundamentals of Psychology."

Made Life Look New

Miss Postlethwaite's experience with Wine of Cardui shows that all her former suffering was unnecessary.

Miss Postlethwaite's cure is proof that the pains that hundreds of thousands of other women are enduring are equally unnecessary. And it should convince you that your sickness should not be allowed to go on another day.

Wine of Cardui made life beautiful for Miss Postlethwaite. It has made life new for over 1,500,000 sick women. It will make life new for you. It will give you health for your sickness and quick and permanent relief for your pains. A 25 cent package of Thedford's Black Draught will give better health to every member of your family.

WINE OF CARDUI

No 1812 Broderick St., SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Dec. 8, 1903.

I suffered for over four years with ovarian troubles, which robbed me of the joy of life. My back and limbs ached so I could hardly stand up, and shooting pains made life at times unbearable. The blinding headaches I suffered were something no one can understand who has not had the experience. Wine of Cardui saved my life, released me from suffering and made life look new and beautiful to me. I took nearly twenty bottles in all before I was perfectly well, but I felt it was a cheap cure. This was all over eleven months ago. I am well and in perfect health now, and most heartily do I endorse Wine of Cardui as the best and most reliable remedy any sick woman can obtain.

GOOD AFTERNOON, BEAUTIFUL THANKSGIVING DEAR OLD THANKSGIVING.

Of all our holidays, to me Thanksgiving has the sweetest sentiment. Where is the man or woman who has not something to be thankful for? Good health, loyal friends, pleasant and happy surroundings, contentment--in fact, a great many things at all times call for our unbounded appreciation and thanks.

Take myself, for instance. Coming to St. Louis nearly twenty years ago, a green country boy, without money, without friends, without education, I have, by my own individual efforts, placed myself at the head of carriage building in the United States. I have during the past season manufactured and sold 42,296 vehicles--more buggies than have ever before been manufactured by a single man in one year in the United States, and exceeding the combined output of the other eleven St. Louis manufacturers, as well as establishing for my city the largest carriage factory in the world. Why shouldn't I be happy and contented? When a man by his own efforts and his own ability places himself at the head of his particular industry in this great country, should he not have cause for great rejoicing? I, therefore, announce that on this Thanksgiving holiday I not only give thanks on High, but give thanks to one and all of my friends and customers here below for their patronage, friendship, loyal support and help since I introduced myself to them nearly twenty years ago.

BANNER IS KING AND STILL CLIMBING

Floor Space of our combined factories over 20 acres.

Number of employees for 1905, 1,000.

Number of Banner Buggy Agents, 5,560.

And I can make the proud boast that I have never yet lost a customer through any fault of mine.

I manufacture buggies under the specialty plan originated by myself and which has proven to be the most successful method of manufacture known to date. All dealers like to do business with the successful man. There must be merit somewhere when a firm can build up this big business, as success does not come through accident, nor is it the offshoot of luck or chance. Buggy dealers, therefore, thoroughly understand that when they buy from me they are buying from headquarters, as the records will show, especially in view of the elimination of all extra expense under my system of buying, building and selling for cash.

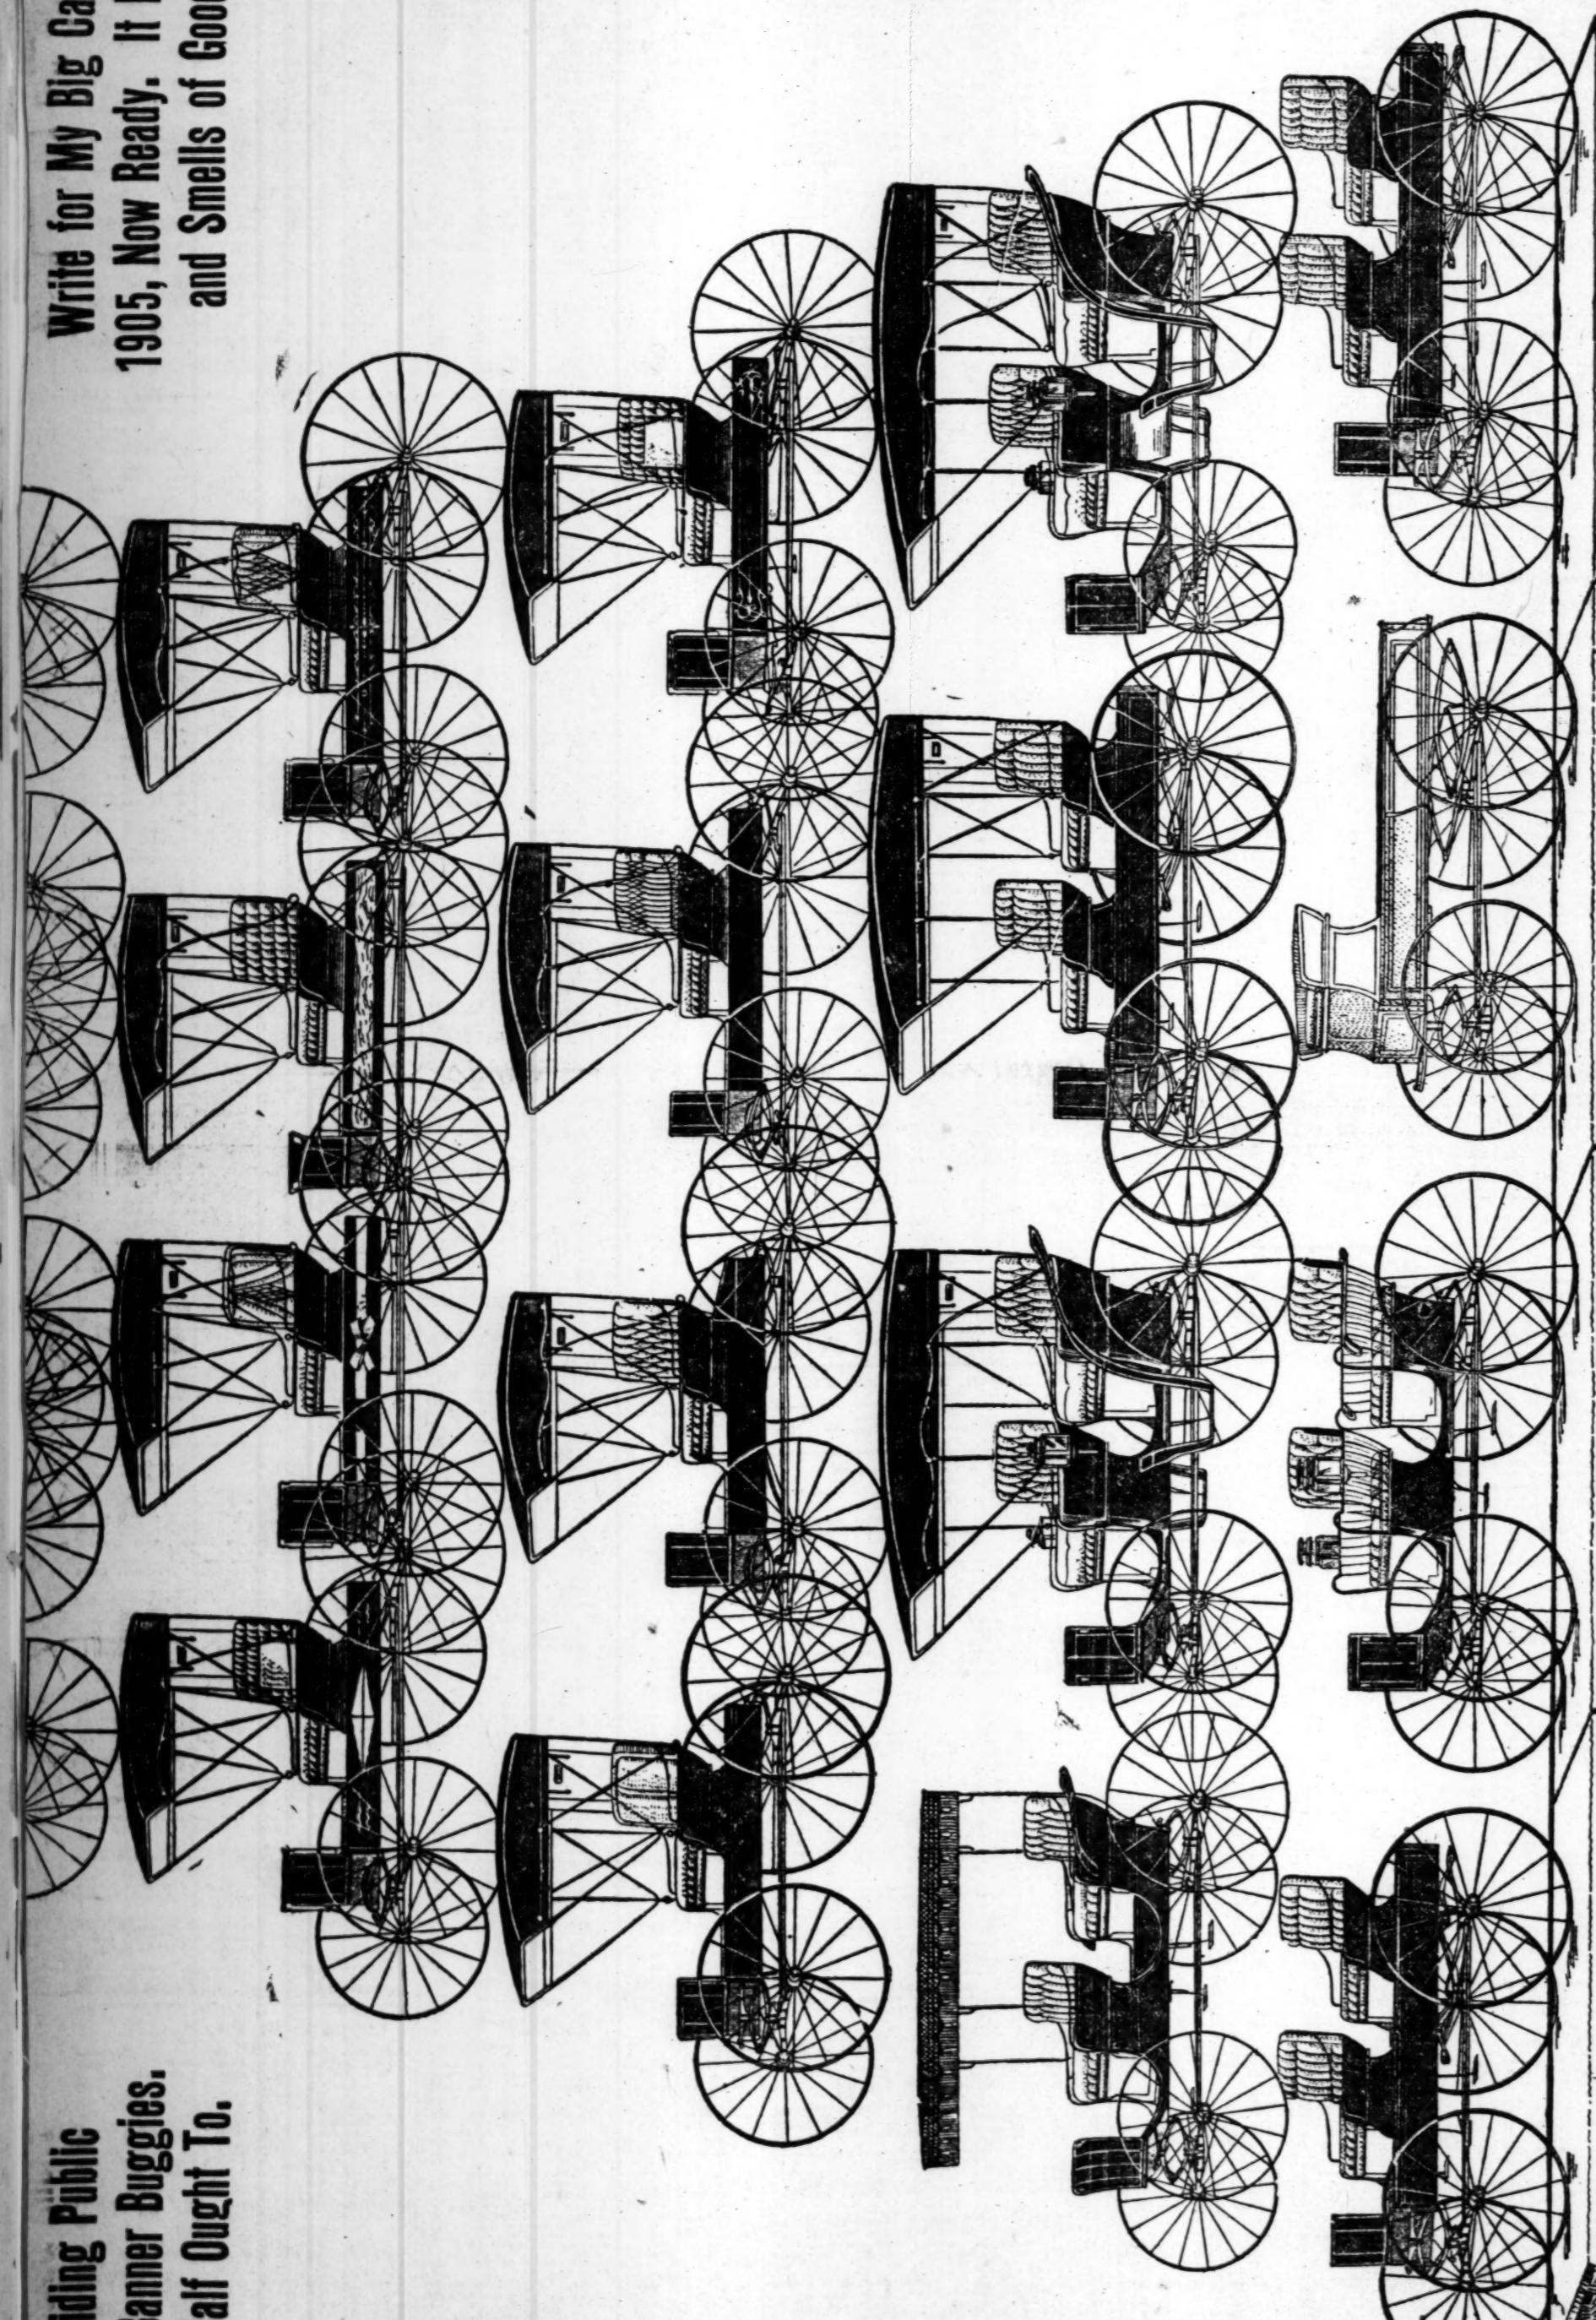

I am asked several times every day how it is that a country boy, without money or friends, can come to a big city like St. Louis, an entire stranger, and make a mark for himself. Well, it is a pretty hard question, but here is my receipt: Get up early; start with honesty and brains; pour in a heaping teaspoonful of energy, a little nerve, plenty of hard work, a gallon of commercial cordiality (priceless, yet costs nothing) and diplomacy galore. Mix well, and success will be yours. Not forgetting never be too old to learn nor to respect the wishes, rights and regards of others. Mind your own business and never speculate.

LOST BABE CAUSES PANIC AT A FIRE

Joseph Witges Home Damaged by Early Morning Blaze Which Created Great Excitement.

HELPLESS INMATES SAVED

Aged and Bedridden Grandmother and Two Children Rescued in Thrilling Manner.

A lost baby in a baby buggy added to the panic incident to an early morning fire at 2324 Ohio avenue. For a few minutes its distracted parents believed it had perished in the flames and sought franticly for it to discover it sleeping safely at the house next door. Thursday morning Joseph Witges of 2024 Ohio avenue arose to light the kitchen fire. The family washing was hanging about the stove and beneath a table nearby stood a can of kerosene.

After Witges had started the fire he returned to his bed room to dress. Fifteen minutes later he went to the kitchen to learn how the fire was progressing and discovered that the clothes hanging around the stove were blazing and that the room was full of flames which had also ignited the table under which the kerosene can stood.

The rooms of the house are around a gallery on the second floor with an outside staircase leading to the third.

Witges rushed into the sleeping rooms of the family and around his wife, his brother-in-law Edward Cassens and his wife and the two men went into the room of Mrs. Lizzie Cassens, 70 years old, and bedridden, the mother of their respective wives.

They lifted her out of bed and carried her along the gallery, through the flames that were burning out of the kitchen, cut their way out and down to the room occupied by another family at the far end of the gallery.

Witges then carried his two children,

With the help of the baby, Eunice Lizette, aged four months, in her combination baby buggy and cradle beside the bed occupied by himself and wife. While he had been carrying the baby, he had run across the house, but no baby could be found. His wife nor his relatives nor the neighbors had seen or heard of the infant who had been forgotten, and the fire had spread from the kitchen into the living rooms.

A fire alarm had been turned on and the

WHAT'S DIFFERENCE BETWEEN WALTZES?

Eighteen Hundred Dollars Is Answer of Mexican Visitor to Union Station Vicinity.

What is the difference between a Mexican waltz and an American waltz?

The answer is $1800.

This sounds like one of those "Why is a mouse when it spins?" vaudeville conundrums, but it is the answer which Tenor Albino Garcia, of San Miguel, Mexico, received Wednesday night when he went forth to study American manners and customs.

Senor Garcia recently arrived in St. Louis with Manuel Alvarez, also of San Miguel, and a party of Mexican friends to do the World's Fair. They put up at the Pontiac Hotel on Market street, near Union Station.

Wednesday night Garcia and Alvarez went out to see the city under the red glare. In the course of time they came to the saloon at Nineteenth and Chestnut streets, kept by Mike Howard, former sergeant-at-arms of the House of Delegates.

"There are two forms of the waltz," said Garcia. "There is the Mexican waltz, which the Mexicans declared was carried to the perfection of grace and dash in their country, and the American waltz, which was originated by one of the ladies present, who thought that nothing could compare with the American waltz when it came to the perfection of grace."

At that point a gentleman present laid down his tray, tucked his long white apron into his waistband and said to Senor Garcia: "I confess that there is much difference between the Mexican and the American waltz. Come, let us try them both, and I will prove that the American waltz is superior."

Senor Garcia was nothing if not obliging, so he donned his apron and the gentleman and apron proceeded to waltz about the room.

When they were finished the party complimented Garcia on his grace as a dancer, and agreed that he had won the contention. The gentleman who had lost brought in a round of drinks and the party dispersed.

The damage to the house was confined to the kitchen and the scorching of two adjoining rooms.

The family will celebrate the day in Thanksgiving for the baby who was not burned in the fire.
